

Company Profile and History

It began with the realization that there was strong demand for trikes throughout the country. Yet there were very few trike kits available on the market. And fewer still that offered the rider great performance, combined with eye-catching appeal! In the spring of 2005, Danny Johnson of Elkhorn, Kentucky set out to change all that. Danny has owned and operated an auto body shop for years, where he continuously came up with innovative ideas, some of which were implemented by Ford Motor Company. When he entered the trike conversion industry a few years ago, he brought with him over 40 years experience in metal fabrication and fiberglass molding. Not to mention an aesthetic eye that took decades to develop. These life-long skills lead to distinct creativity and quality, reflected in the Danson Trike.

Detailed Product Information

Danson Trikes is dedicated to bringing you the stability of a trike, without compromising performance and great looks. The patent-pending quad shock, extended frame design of the Danson Trike set it apart from others by offering a smoother ride, and a far better response in the turns. One ride on a Danson Trike and you will know the difference! It was designed and engineered by a lifetime rider, for lifetime riders. The Danson Trike Kit is hand-made with pride right here in the U.S. It is easy to install and can be completed in a day, or we can find a dealer near you who will install it for you. Give us a call or send us an e-mail today and find out why the Danson should be your next trike!
